

1309

Papacy moves from Rome to Avignon

Pope Clement V transferred the papacy to Avignon and the Gothic Palace of the Popes was begun by Pope LXII in 1316 and continued by his successors

There for 73 yrs the Papacy remained in its 'Babylonian Captivity' under the protection of the kings of France

1309

Angevin Robert elected king of Hungary Pope Clement established Papacy at AVIGNON.

Naples: Robert, uncle of Robert assassinated.

1309-78

"AVIGNONESE CAPTIVITY"
of the Papes

A French-sponsored pope was crowned in Lyons and elected residence at Avignon in Provence, launching a 68-yr absence from Rome that nearly split the church in two

1309-1377

Avignonese Captivity
("Babylonian Captivity") pope accepted French royal domination and moved the papacy to Avignon, France.

1309-1376

1912 Dates J-BK

Frame

Papal residence was removed to AVIG NOM

1309

RHODES

1912 Dates J-BK

when the Crusades began Rhodes was a convenient stopping-place for the Christian fleets. In 1309, after 3 yrs' siege the city fell into the hands of the Knights HOSPITALIERS of St. John.

1309

Pope Clement IV moved the Papal Court to AVIGNON.

This was seat of papacy from 1309 to 1377

1309

Germany

Swiss Confederacy is recognized by emperor

1309

Seat of the popes is transferred to AVIGNON.

1309

Milan had an iron clock with a very large Clapper which struck a bell: one for 1 o'clock;
two for 2 o'clock up to 24 times for 11 A.M.

a clock rang a bell but had no dial
if it had a dial it was a watch whether portable or not 1309-1377

Babylonian Captivity of Papacy at Avignon

1309

Papacy moved to AVIGNON till 1377.

Popes became puppets of the French monarchy.

1309

Milan, Italy had an iron clock which had a very large clapper which strikes a bell 24 times according to the 24 hrs of the day and night and thus at the first hour of the night gives one sound, at the second two . . . And so distinguishes one hour from another which is extremely useful to men of every degree